

Spring Space Clearing for Your Feng Shui Home

Refresh Your Space, Renew Your Energy

Welcome Spring with Intention

The scent of blossoms in the air and the sight of fresh green leaves can only mean one thing—spring is here! And with it comes the perfect opportunity to not just clean... but clear energy.

In Diamond Feng Shui, space clearing is the mindful act of sorting through your belongings to decide what to keep, repair, release, or realign. But this isn't just about tidying up—it's about creating a home that reflects your intentions and supports your dreams.

Why Space Clearing Matters

- Clarity & Calm: A clean, organized space nurtures a clear, peaceful mind.
 - Energy Flow: According to Feng Shui, clutter blocks the natural flow of chi (energy).
Stagnant energy = stagnant results.
 - Manifesting Power: A clear home creates space for abundance, love, and opportunity to flow in.

How to Start (Without Overwhelm)

- Choose One Room or Area

Start small. One drawer, one closet, or one room. Commit to finishing it before the sun sets.

- Don't Go It Alone

Invite a friend, family member, or partner to join you. They can help you stay focused—and lovingly challenge your “should I keep this?” decisions.

- Set the Vibe

Before you begin, spritz some lavender mist or light an incense stick. Create a calming atmosphere that welcomes release and renewal.

Bonus Tip:

As you clear, ask yourself:

“Does this item support the future I’m manifesting?”

If not—thank it, bless it, and let it go.

Ready to Align Your Home With Your Energy?

This is just the beginning. Spring is the perfect season to bring your space into harmony with your highest self.

Step 1: Create Five Piles in the Center of the Room:

1. Pile 1: Items you want to keep
2. Pile 2: Items that need repair
3. Pile 3: Items to discard
4. Pile 4: Borrowed items that need to be returned
5. Pile 5: Items you'd like to donate (either to family, friends, or charity)

Next, go through your drawers, cabinets, shelves, and closets, placing each item into one of the five piles. Be selective! A simple rule of thumb is to ask yourself: "Will I use this item in the next year?" If the answer is no, consider letting it go or donating it. Your home should only contain items that serve a purpose, making your life easier and more organized.

After sorting, give the space a thorough cleaning. Lavender-scented cleaning products are excellent for purifying the energy of the room. Don't forget to open the windows to invite fresh air in. Return the items you've decided to keep to their proper places, and take care of the other piles appropriately.

Once you're done, you'll immediately feel the positive shift. Not only will you enjoy the satisfaction of a job well done, but you'll also experience a renewed sense of balance and harmony in your space. Consider making space clearing a regular part of your spring cleaning ritual!

Cathi's Story

With over 25 years in real estate and more than 1,000 homes under my belt, I've seen it all—beautiful spaces, chaotic ones, and everything in between. I've always believed in the power of vision boards and have studied New Thought and traditional Feng Shui for years. But honestly? The mystical side of Feng Shui never quite clicked for me.

That changed the moment I discovered Feng Shui Master Marie Diamond, who combines Classical Feng Shui with the Law of Attraction, neuroscience, and quantum principles. When she described our homes as “3D vision boards,” it hit me like a cosmic 2x4—I got it. And that's when my deep study began.

Now, I see clearly: most homes—including my own—are not in alignment with our dreams. We're cluttered, blocked, and wondering why our manifestations stall. As Marie says, 33% of the Law of Attraction is our environment. Many of us have already manifested all we can with mindset alone.

I'm now on a mission to impact 100,000+ households—to show others how aligning their home's energy can add 33% more power to their dreams.

Your home is a mirror of your life. Let's make it a reflection of everything you're ready to receive.
